Instructor: D. Newell Williams

Prerequisites: None

Description of Content: Christianity in the United States from the 17th Century to the present.

Class Procedures: Textbook readings and lectures address the broad sweep of institutional, socio-political and doctrinal issues that have characterized Christianity in the United States. Class discussion of assigned primary sources invites students to “dialog” with a sample of individuals who have influenced Christianity in America.

Requirements: Three take-home essay examinations on questions distributed at the beginning of the course and a research paper not to exceed 20 typed, double-spaced pages on a topic approved by the professor.

Texts:

Grading Procedures: Course grade will be based on the three take-home essays (1/4 each) and the research paper (1/4).